

TENESO Holland makes IT happen with paperless trucks

The TENESO Europe SE partner in Holland, Eijgenhuijsen have gone paperless!

Marcel Reurink, managing director at Eijgenhuijsen put it to us quite simply, “Our goal since 2012 has been to work paperless and by the end of 2014 we believe that we will have achieved this”

He adds, “Our crews not only make the ‘final mile’ delivery but they are often responsible for placing, mounting and installing this equipment on site too. Each of our crews have been given a portable ‘android’ tablet to capture data at the scene of the ‘installation’. We are working in real time and the information gathered by the crew at the scene is immediately visible to our customer facing teams, the customer and the end-user too”

He adds, “To safely transport, deliver, install and store sensitive machinery such as medical equipment and office machines comes as standard. We believe that these IT developments will continue to give our clients what they want...accurate on site information in real time”
